DEFINITIONS

Legal definitions of bribery, corruption and money laundering of legislation referred to and/or applying to Interservices S.A.'s Policy against Bribery, Corruption and Proceeds of Crime, including Money Laundering prevail.

The significance of words and phrases used in Interservices S.A.'s Policy against Bribery, Corruption and Proceeds of Crime, including Money Laundering is the following:

Bribery and corruption

Bribery is a specific offence which concerns the practice of offering something, usually money, to gain an illicit advantage and corruption is an abuse of a position of trust in order to gain an undue advantage.

Corruption is the misuse of power by someone to whom it has been entrusted, for his own private gain, the most common form of corruption being bribery.

The notions of bribery and corruption are frequently used in practice in an interchangeable manner.

The anti-corruption laws prohibit an offer, payment, promise to pay or authorisation of payment of any money, gift, or anything of value to any government official for purposes of:

- influencing any act or decision of the government official,
- inducing him or her to do any act in violation of his or her lawful duties,
- securing an improper advantage, or
- inducing him or her to use his or her influence with a governmental agency, in order to assist in obtaining or retaining business or to direct business to anyone.

In addition, according to the laws in force in certain countries, such as those that have ratified the Criminal Law Convention on Corruption of the Council of Europe, also known as "Treaty no. 173", even the act of corrupting someone, without the actual payment of a bribe, in order to induce him or her to act or refrain from acting in the exercise of his or her functions is considered a criminal offence.

Money laundering

Money laundering is a specific offence which may consist of:

(i) the conversion or transfer of things, knowing that the same were obtained from a criminal offence, for the purpose of concealing or disguising the illicit origin of the said things or for the purpose of assisting the person who committed the criminal offence from which the things were obtained to evade criminal investigation, judgement and punishment,

(ii) the concealment or disguise of the true nature of the origin, location, disposition, movement or ownership of the things or rights thereon, knowing that the things were obtained from a criminal offence,

(iii) the acquisition, possession or use of things, knowing, that the same were obtained from a criminal offence.

The word "things" should be taken to mean under the Law no. 656 of 7 December 2002 for the prevention and sanctioning of money laundering and for establishing of certain measures for the prevention and combating terrorism financing, corporeal or incorporeal things, movables or immovables, as well as juridical acts or documents which attest a title or right with regard to these things.

The attempt / intention to commit a crime is also punished.

Associated person

In accordance with the applicable provisions and for the purpose of this policy, an "associated person" should be taken to mean any natural person, company, any other organization or legal entity that performs a service upon the instructions of or mandate given to them by Interservices S.A.

Facilitation payments

Facilitation payments, also known as "grease payments", are low value payments designed to speed up routine government actions.

In other words, facilitation payments are used to persuade government officials to do a task that they are already bound to do.

The applicable legislation does not recognize the legality of facilitating payments and does not draw any distinction from bribes.

Conflict of interests

A conflict of interests is a set of circumstances that creates a risk that professional judgement or actions regarding a primary interest will be unduly influenced by a secondary interest and undermine the impartiality.

PROCEDURAL MATTERS

General prohibition

All forms of bribery and corruption, including the promise to give a bribe or agreeing to receive one and equally the promise and/or undertaking, to anyone, to procure an advantage of any sort for obscure and illicit purposes aiming to result in a personal and/or for the company's benefit, or any other offences are strictly prohibited within Interservices S.A.

Bribery is prohibited when dealing with any person whether they are in the public or private sector and the provisions of this policy are of general application.

Failure to comply with this policy will immediately lead to disciplinary actions, including termination of employment, and legal sanctions for violation of company's Policy against Bribery, Corruption and Proceeds of Crime, including Money Laundering.

Corporate hospitality

Utmost care must be exercised to ensure that such hospitality is not disproportionate and/or unreasonable, and in breach of Interservices S.A.'s Policy against Bribery, Corruption and Proceeds of Crime, including Money Laundering and/or the applicable legislation.

Customary hospitality gestures and promotional or other reasonable and bona fide business expenditure seeking to friendly promote the company's image are acceptable and will not be viewed as bribery in most of the jurisdictions subject to certain conditions.

Interservices S.A. keeps accurate financial records that reflect all transactions and asset dispositions, in accordance with the applicable law provisions and statutory requirements.

Facilitation payments

All facilitation payments are prohibited.

Any request for a facilitation payment should be reported to the company's Compliance Officer and/or company's senior management immediately.

Company's senior management and/or the Compliance Officer should be also informed promptly when there is any degree of uncertainty in relation to a demand for a payment that could potentially disguise a facilitation payment.

Dealing with public officials

Although this policy applies to both public and private sectors, dealing with public officials poses a particularly high risk in relation to bribery due to strict rules and regulations in many countries.

Public officials include those in government departments, but also employees of government owned or controlled commercial enterprises, international organisations, political parties and political candidates.

The provision of money or anything else of value, no matter how small, to any public official for the purpose of influencing them in their official capacity is prohibited.

Conflict of interests

All company employees must avoid situations or transactions in which their personal interests, either direct or indirect, could conflict or might be seen to be in conflict with the interests of the company, such as, but no limited to:

- acting on any client information, obtained through their employment with the company, for personal gain;
- passing such information to a third party;
- acting in any way that could be construed as and/or fall within the concept of "insider trading".

Disclosure of any personal actual or potential conflict of interests is mandatory for all employees regardless of rank or seniority.

The matters associated with a conflict of interests or a potential conflict of interests in relation to the assignments commissioned to Interservices S.A. will be dealt with on a case basis and in accordance with Interservices S.A.'s Policy against Bribery, Corruption and Proceeds of Crime, including Money Laundering, Interservices S.A.'s Standard Terms and Conditions for Survey and Consultancy, standing instructions, guidelines and requirements of Interservices S.A.'s Principals and customers.

Standard / minimum due diligence measures

All company employees and specifically but not necessarily limited to those having an assignment relating to establishing business relationships or carrying out bank transactions, must exercise the appropriate caution when dealing with business partners, as under:

(i) when establishing a business relationship,

(ii) when carrying out any bank transactions,

(iii) when there are any suspicions that the transaction is intended for money laundering or terrorism financing, regardless of the amount involved in the transaction,

(iv) when there are any doubts about the truthfulness or adequacy of previously obtained customer identification data.

The aforesaid measures should reasonably extend to subcontractors and / or third-party service providers instructed by Interservices S.A.

Compliance

It is the responsibility of each and every individual in Interservices S.A. to ensure compliance with this policy and each has an obligation to act with integrity and to ensure that this policy is properly understood and observed.

The ultimate responsibility for compliance with this policy throughout the company is taken by the company's senior management and its designated Compliance Officer.

Training will be provided to new employees to support them in complying with their responsibilities, strictly in line with the company's Policy against Bribery, Corruption and Proceeds of Crime, including Money Laundering.

Reporting

Whistleblowing is encouraged when it serves to report a crime or the intention to commit a crime.

All Interservices S.A.'s personnel as well as all and any associated persons have the responsibility and obligation to prevent, detect and report any bribery and/or money laundering and/or suspicion of or attempted bribery and/or money laundering.

Interservices S.A. is fully committed to ensuring that its employees can speak up openly if they have any concerns or suspect or observe anything that might be in breach of this policy.

Any matter under this policy should be reported promptly to the company's designated Compliance Officer (Mr. Vlad Mancas, Office phone: +40 21 321 9235 / 323 9235, Mobile: +40 723 298226) and/or senior management or in their absence to the company's designated Quality Manager (Mrs. Manuela Dumitru, Office phone: +40 21 321 9235 / 323 9235, Mobile: +40 745 605364).

All reports will be treated confidentially and there will be no adverse consequences under any circumstances.

Summary

The company and its employees are:

- prohibited from offering, promising or paying a bribe of any nature, whatsoever;
- prohibited from soliciting, accepting or receiving a bribe of any nature, whatsoever;
- prohibited to promise and/or undertake, to anyone, to procure an advantage of any sort for obscure and illicit purposes aiming to result in a personal and/or for the company's benefit;
